DEFINITIONS

For the purposes of this License Agreement, the following definitions apply:

"Application Software" – An End-User application software program developed with the proprietary DataFlex language and/or DataFlex Studio and any of its components, resources or libraries.

"Business" - A Business is an individual person or a legal entity operating as any form of business, proprietorship, partnership, Limited Liability Company (LLC), corporation, organization, school, institution, government agency, non-governmental organization, for-profit or not-for-profit entity of any kind whatsoever.

"DataFlex Web Client" – a license to use the DataFlex WebApp Server as defined herein.

"DataFlex Windows Client" – Proprietary DataFlex software, the presence of which is required for the execution and use of Windows Desktop Application Software.

"DataFlex Windows/Web Combo Client" – The inseparable combination of a DataFlex Windows Client and a DataFlex Web Client licensed as a single Software Product.

"End User" – A person that uses Application Software and its required Software Product.

"Named End User" – A specific, individual, named person that uses Application Software and its required Software Product. Each individual named user must be included in compliance tests for the Number of Named End Users licensed for a particular Software Product.

"Number of Web Applications" – The number of web, mobile or internet Application Software programs licensed for use on a DataFlex WebApp Server.

and sending of information is performed according to DAC's published Privacy Policy.

"Private Person" - A Private Person is a private, individual person not acting as or on behalf of a public or private business, organization, school, for-profit or not-for-profit entity of any kind whatsoever.

Non-running, stored virtual Server Instances require licenses as defined in the Software Product Price List or Product Information Document for a specific Software Product. A specific connection technology is not consequential to the definition of a Server Instance; the existence of multiple End User connections and the sharing of resources are the essence of a Server Instance for the purposes of this License Agreement. For licensing purposes, every installation of a Software Product on any Server Instance requires an individual, unique, Software Product serial number and registration code even if multiple Server Instances are installed on the same physical hardware server.
